

Frequently Asked Questions

- Am I the only one? How common can this really be?

Studies show 52% of men experience ED at some point in their life. 52%! One out of two!

- What is Focused Linear Compression Therapy (FLCT)? How does it work?

FLCT is a safe, totally painless, noninvasive, and revolutionary new approach for the treatment of Erectile Dysfunction (ED). It utilizes electrical pulses to stimulate healing of erectile tissue at the cellular level, encourage growth of new blood vessels, repair desensitized nerves, and break down and repair scar tissue.

- How many treatments will I need? How much will they cost? Is it covered by insurance?

Your physician will assign an individual treatment protocol, specifically for you, based on your condition, health history, and Doppler results. Cost varies based upon the treatment prescribed. Your Clinical Consultant will provide you with all available options during your consultation. FLCT is considered an elective procedure and is not covered or pre-approved by insurance companies. You always have the option to submit for reimbursement.

- How long do the treatments take? When do I come back?

Each treatment takes approximately twenty minutes. Twice a week is sufficient for most patients and allows optimal time to heal between treatments. Once the first regimen has been completed, you will take a ninety-day break from treatments to allow your body to complete the healing process. Subsequent regimens may be prescribed.

- When should I notice any effects? How long will the benefits last?

Every patient is different. Your individual condition will determine how quickly you will notice improvement. Each stage of the process is equally important to maximizing your results. Your protocol will be individually tailored to give you the best response possible.

- Is there a guarantee?

We cannot guarantee results or satisfaction because, as with any medical procedure, it is unethical. We CAN guarantee that we will provide you the best care available and do everything in our power to count you among our current 80%-90% success rate.

spirit of excellence

We have developed a solution. It is innovative and nothing short of groundbreaking!

The continued development of the piezo shockwave technology along with the use of a therapy source with an extended linear therapy focus has led to a decisive breakthrough in the search for ways of using shockwaves to treat vascular erectile dysfunction. Used in combination with the new, optimized therapy concept LSTC-ED, the application technique and therapy outcomes have improved significantly.
